(By United Press)

Chicago, Aug. 14.—A gasoline war that will lower retail prices throughout the country, probably to 15 and 17 cents a gallon, was imminent today.

The competitive struggle between the Standard Oil company of Indiana and independent dealers was forecast in the middle west war which culminated in the Standard Oil company of Indiana putting a price as low as 15.4 a gallon, averaging 16.4 cents, in effect today, in ten states and part of another.

All independent dealers previously reduced the price to 17 cents, some companies cutting to 16 cents.

The Standard Oil reduction represents a cut of 6.6 cents a gallon, the independent decrease 5 cents. Although gasoline was selling from 20 to 35 cents in the territory affected, the average was 23 cents.

States in which the cut is effective, bringing swarms of bargain hunting motorists upon filling stations, include:

Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas, Michigan, Iowa and parts of Oklahoma. A decrease to 16 cents in South Dakota, where the price explosion was started by Governor W. H. McMaster, became effective Saturday, but was included in the Standard's announcement of a general decrease.

The "price war" was attributed directly to McMaster. Public sentiment, which has long been smoldering against what officials termed "exorbitant high prices and huge stock dividends by oil companies," was also a factor in forcing the Standard Oil company to capitulate.

The method was simple. After the Standard refused the demand for a cut from the 26 cents then charged in South Dakota, he ordered the Mitchell, S. D., state highway supply depot to sell to the public at 16. He also started a plan to dump half a million gallons on the market through state filling stations. After a day of rest the Standard met the 16-cent price. Other companies followed. North Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and other states wired their demands for similar general cuts by the Standard, their governors claiming unjust discrimination.

Some fears were expressed that the low prices will be of short duration. Some rumors said that Governor McMaster and independent dealers, autoists and other fuel users, which is to be sold at 16 cents; that then the price is to be raised to 20 cents in South Dakota. These reports caused a "gasoline spree" throughout the eleven states. Farmers, autoists and other fuel users filled stations with every conceivable type of containers and laid in heavy supplies.

A statement of the directors of the Standard Oil company declared the cut brought the price below the cost of production. An early end to hostilities was seen in assertions from L. V. Nichols, president of the independents, that the 6.6 cents cut was "ruinous."

Kentucky is regarded here as the next state in which the reduction will become effective.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—Medallions of President Harding will be sold to the public at $1.52, Freas Styer, superintendent of the Philadelphia mint, announced today.

The keepsakes will be mailed to all parts of the United States by the local mint and it is anticipated they will be ready by about Sept. 1st.

new price established by Standard Oil of Indiana was "ruinous."

Meantime the public revelled in the lowest fuel prices in years. The Northwest went on a "gasoline spree."

Standard Oil of Indiana stations hung out prices of 16.9 for Red Crown and 19.9 for Solite. The price at tank wagons was 14.9 and 17.9.

The announcement of L. V. Nichols, head of the National Petroleum Workers association, that independent dealers should reduce the price 5 cents a gallon had little effect in Minnesota. Most dealers in this state are members of the Minnesota Petroleum club.

Governor Preus was offered 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline by John A. Anderson of Chicago at 8.5 cents a gallon, f. o. b. Oklahoma. The governor made no statement as to what action he might take.

N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, began an investigation of prices in Minnesota before the Standard cut was announced. His investigation will be continued to prevent boosting of prices later.

Governor R. A. Nestos of North Dakota joined with Governor McMaster of South Dakota in the demand for lower prices, wiring the Standard Oil of Indiana headquarters in Chicago, declaring the price established in South Dakota should also apply to North Dakota.

Governor McMaster, who started the war by ordering a cut to 16 cents a gallon in Mitchell, was a hero in the eyes of the Northwest consumers.

CHEAP GASOLINE IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Aug. 14.—While a select few of 60,000 motorists in this city were buying gasoline at 14 cents a gallon at city tanks this morning, others were able to get it at practically every filling station in the city for 16 cents as a result of the war on gasoline prices which started last week.

GASOLINE WAR MAY BE DISASTROUS

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 14.—The man who started the gasoline war is alarmed over developments.

Governor W. H. McMaster, informed by the United Press of the drastic reduction by the Standard Oil of Indiana today, expressed fear that the war may prove disastrous. "It all depends on whether this cut is advisable," he said, "whether it will prove beneficial to the independents and to the business."

"At this time I cannot say what would be a fair price on gasoline. That is all the public wants—a fair price and nothing more."

If the independent operators are destroyed and the business is left to the mercy of Standard Oil, the public stands no chance whatever. The interests of consumers and independent operators are identical.

"I cannot say whether a cut of 6.6 cents a gallon at this time is advisable. It may not work out to the best interest of the consumer."

"Everyone knows that Standard Oil has set the price of gas for the last 15 or 20 years. If the present cut is designed to break the inde-

Fair Price Wanted

"Steps should be taken to see that the consumer continues to get gasoline at a fair price. It would be unwise for me to disclose by what means they may accomplish this. My only plan is to use the state machinery for supplying gasoline to the public. I cannot reveal how much of a supply we have or what the prospects are for further supplies. If the distributing companies cannot furnish the public with gas at a fair price, the state will do so."

"I believe in a fair price for the producer and distributor, and that steps should be taken to continue the investigation already begun. It may be that Standard Oil is trying to force down to a level which will possibly ruin the small dealer. If this is accomplished, I think that it may prove disastrous."

A number of South Dakota independent dealers are calling on Governor W. H. McMaster at Pierre tomorrow in an effort to call off the gasoline war.

"We expect to seek an agreement between the state, Standard Oil and ourselves which will allow us a fair margin of profit. The price of gasoline in South Dakota has been set at about 20 cents a gallon. Up to last Saturday the price was around 26 cents in most towns."

Independents declared present prices of gasoline will force them to bankruptcy if they are compelled to continue to meet the price. They say that only a fair price will enable them to remain in business.

Independent distributors today moved in an attempt to end the "price war" which has driven the price of gasoline down to 19c a gallon in twelve mid-western states.

They charge that the Standard Oil company of Indiana is attempting to wipe out independents and control the market with its sweeping 6.6 cents a gallon cut. A delegation of independents will call on Governor W. M. McMaster, South Dakota executive, today.

GOVERNMENT TAKES

COAL CRISIS NEAR

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 14.—Plans have been formulated to prevent suffering in event of an anthracite strike, it was learned today at the White House. The government has taken steps to prepare substitutes which will safeguard against such conditions as prevailed last winter as a result of the anthracite shutdown. The anthracite situation is being left entirely in the hands of the coal commission, which Mr. Coolidge feels has the authority of congress to deal with it, it was said at the White House. At the conference in New York tomorrow to which both operators and miners have been summoned the commission will endeavor to learn whether there can be mediation to bring about some agreement which will avert a strike.

Technically, it is said, the New York meeting tomorrow will not be authorized to harmonize the difference of the contending parties, but rather an occasion for the commission to learn the basic problems of the situation.

The convention also adopted a resolution embodying a memorial to the late President Harding.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis and National Commander Alvin M. Owsley attended the convention today and addressed both the legion and the auxiliary.

UNIT ESTABLISHES
EIGHT HOUR SHIFT

MOVEMENT BEGUN AT CHICAGO
PLANT WILL AFFECT 120,000 WORKERS

INDEPENDENTS FALL IN LINE,
ACCORDING TO PLEDGE
GIVEN INSTITUTE

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The 12 hour day was abolished in one unit of the United States Steel corporation's plants at midnight last night. E. H. Gary promised the late President Harding last January that the 12 hour day would be abolished as soon as the change to the eight hour day could be made.

At the Inland Steel company works, where the eight hour shift was inaugurated, it was stated several weeks would elapse before all the men could work eight hours instead of 12. About 1,000 more men will be required.

Today the 12 hour day in steel starts toward the exit. Approximately 120,000 workers in the continuous processes in the industry are affected for at present one worker out of every four or five in iron and steel is on a two shift day. The change will be gradual, the iron masters declaring that it will proceed as fast as new labor can be recruited and plant adjustments made. It is estimated by E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation and others that the complete abolishment of the 12 hour day will require the employment of 60,000 new men. The dawn of the new day in steel comes after some 12 years of conversation. It is a posthumous triumph for President Harding, to whom the directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute on June 27 sent their pledge. "We are determined to exert every effort at our command to secure in the iron and steel industry of the country a total abolition of the 12 hour day at the earliest time practicable."

Independents Join Move

Independents are moving right along with the procession—the pledge given by the institute, which covers the whole industry. Inland Steel today will put on 150 new men as one unit as a starter. It will need 1,000 and more new workers to eliminate the 12 hour day completely. Back in 1919 and 1920, Inland Steel installed a three shift system basis of operation, but abandoned it because it could not hold its men, some of whom went to long shift mills to drag down a fatter weekly pay envelope. With the entire industry moving toward the shorter work day, however, this handicap is removed.

Hourly Pay Increased

To compensate for the shorter working day, hourly wage rates for the continuous process workers involved are to be increased 25 percent. The present movement, it should be kept in mind, is against the 12 hour day. It does not mean that all workers will be put on an eight hour shift. The men in continuous processes will go to the three shift basis with 8 hour turns, but generally speaking the rest of the workers will remain on a 10 hour working day. Some mills are contemplating an 8 hour day for all workers, some of the Youngstown producers declaring for this. It is the system operated by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at Pueblo.

It is estimated that in the South Chicago-Gary section, the change from the 12 hour day will, when complete, mean the employment of anywhere from 6,000 to 10,000 more men.

Some companies say they expect to have the 12 hour day completely wiped out by the end of the year, while the general talk in steel circles is that it may require 12 months

LORD, DIRECTOR OF BUDGET BUREAU, CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

SUBMITS HIS ESTIMATES OF EXPENDITURES COMPILED BY DEPARTMENTS

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 14.—President Calvin Coolidge approved today a slashing of government expenditures of $126,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

General Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget bureau, conferred with the president at the White House and submitted his estimates of expenditures compiled by the various government departments for the next year.

Lord's work, which was begun at the instance of President Harding, was sanctioned by Mr. Coolidge. The threatened anthracite strike was one of the principal problems confronting President Harding's cabinet and it now remains for the new president to get both sides together. Mr. Coolidge has already drawn up and put into execution a definite plan to banish the threat of a coal strike by having representatives of both sides gather at New York tomorrow to seek an agreement.

The budget is based on the estimate on the cost of $1,700,000,000 for operation of the government next year, as compared with $1,826,000,000 for the last fiscal year.

These figures are exclusive of interest on the public debt and post office receipts and expenditures, which are included in the budget.

The government heads, members of the cabinet in charge of the different departments, will be given an opportunity to prove the necessity for certain increases asked.

Mr. Coolidge indicated he would sanction these increases if they were absolutely needed.

Lord has been working on the budget for months. He was ordered by Mr. Harding to slash the cost of government as much as possible. His work had to be passed on by the president before tomorrow. It will be submitted to the House as soon as Congress convenes in December. The next fiscal year starts June 30 next.

President Coolidge's first cabinet meeting lasted an hour and ten minutes. Secretaries Hoover and Work were the first to leave, referring all questioners to the president.

On Merchant Marine

Washington, Aug. 14.—Although President Coolidge is on record for an adequate merchant marine, the uncertainty as to how he will deal with the problem resulting from the creation of the wartime merchant fleet is producing considerable speculation. It is believed the president will approach the problem with an open mind and will obtain all information possible from the shipping board and others.

It is conceded generally that the passing of President Harding alters the relationship of A. D. Lasker, former chairman of the board, to the merchant marine problem. Mr. Lasker worked closely with President Harding for establishment of a strong American merchant marine on a sound footing.

The possibility of Chairman Farley resigning is being discussed.

The chairman is of a type, it is believed, who could work sympathetically with President Coolidge. He accepted the chairmanship at the earnest request of Mr. Harding and Mr. Lasker.

Tarbes, France, Aug. 14.—Twenty-three lives were sacrificed to save one here late yesterday when a motor bus containing 30 tourists bore down a narrow mountain road upon a woman pedestrian. The momentum of the heavy bus was such that the driver could not have avoided knocking the woman down. He swerved to avoid her, and the car plunged into a ravine 200 feet below. Twenty-three passengers were killed.

GOVERNMENT TAKES STEP IN HARD
COAL CRISIS NEAR

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 14.—Plans have been formulated to prevent suffering in event of an anthracite strike, it was learned today at the White House. The government has taken steps to prepare substitutes which will safeguard against such conditions as prevailed last winter as a result of the anthracite shutdown. The anthracite situation is being left entirely in the hands of the coal commission, which Mr. Coolidge feels has the authority of congress to deal with it, it was said at the White House. At the conference in New York tomorrow to which both operators and miners have been summoned the commission will endeavor to learn whether there can be mediation to bring about some agreement which will avert a strike.

Technically, it is said, the New York meeting tomorrow will not be authorized to harmonize the difference of the contending parties, but rather an occasion for the commission to learn the basic problems of the situation.

UNIVERSAL DRAFT

The convention also adopted a resolution embodying a memorial to the late President Harding.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis and National Commander Alvin M. Owsley attended the convention today and addressed both the legion and the auxiliary.

FIRST U. S. STEEL
UNIT ESTABLISHES
EIGHT HOUR SHIFT

MOVEMENT BEGUN AT CHICAGO PLANT WILL AFFECT 120,000 WORKERS

INDEPENDENTS FALL IN LINE.
ACCORDING TO PLEDGE
GIVEN INSTITUTE

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The 12 hour day was abolished in one unit of the United States Steel corporation's plants at midnight last night. E. H. Gary promised the late President Harding last January that the 12 hour day would be abolished as soon as the change to the eight hour day could be made.

At the Inland Steel company works, where the eight hour shift was inaugurated, it was stated several weeks would elapse before all the men could work eight hours instead of 12. About 1,000 more men will be required.

Today the 12 hour day in steel starts toward the exit. Approximately 120,000 workers in the continuous processes in the industry are affected for at present one worker out of every four or five in iron and steel is on a two shift day. The change will be gradual, the iron masters declaring that it will proceed as fast as new labor can be recruited and plant adjustments made. It is estimated by E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation and others that the complete abolishment of the 12 hour day will require the employment of 60,000 new men. The dawn of the new day in steel comes after some 12 years of conversation. It is a posthumous triumph for President Harding, to whom the directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute on June 27 sent their pledge. "We are determined to exert every effort at our command to secure in the iron and steel industry of the country a total abolition of the 12 hour day at the earliest time practicable."

Independents Join Move

Independents are moving right along with the procession—the pledge given by the institute, which covers the whole industry. Inland Steel today will put on 150 new men as one unit as a starter. It will need 1,000 and more new workers to eliminate the 12 hour day completely. Back in 1919 and 1920, Inland Steel installed a three shift system basis of operation, but abandoned it because it could not hold its men, some of whom went to long shift mills to drag down a fatter weekly pay envelope. With the entire industry moving toward the shorter work day, however, this handicap is removed.

Hourly Pay Increased

To compensate for the shorter working day, hourly wage rates for the continuous process workers involved are to be increased 25 percent. The present movement, it should be kept in mind, is against the 12 hour day. It does not mean that all workers will be put on an eight hour shift. The men in continuous processes will go to the three shift basis with 8 hour turns, but generally speaking the rest of the workers will remain on a 10 hour working day. Some mills are contemplating an 8 hour day for all workers, some of the Youngstown producers declaring for this. It is the system operated by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at Pueblo.

It is estimated that in the South Chicago-Gary section, the change from the 12 hour day will, when complete, mean the employment of anywhere from 6,000 to 10,000 more men.

Some companies say they expect to have the 12 hour day completely wiped out by the end of the year, while the general talk in steel circles is that it may require 12 months

Miss Marjorie Edgar, a member of the staff, has been in Ely several days getting the equipment together. Supervisor Calvin A. Dahlgren of the Superior National forest has been assisting the members of the staff.

YEAR'S EXPENSES

LORD, DIRECTOR OF BUDGET BUREAU, CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

SUBMITS HIS ESTIMATES OF EXPENDITURES COMPILED BY DEPARTMENTS

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 14.—President Calvin Coolidge approved today a slashing of government expenditures of $126,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

General Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget bureau, conferred with the president at the White House and submitted his estimates of expenditures compiled by the various government departments for the next year.

Lord's work, which was begun at the instance of President Harding, was sanctioned by Mr. Coolidge. The threatened anthracite strike was one of the principal problems confronting President Harding's cabinet and it now remains for the new president to get both sides together. Mr. Coolidge has already drawn up and put into execution a definite plan to banish the threat of a coal strike by having representatives of both sides gather at New York tomorrow to seek an agreement.

The budget is based on the estimate on the cost of $1,700,000,000 for operation of the government next year, as compared with $1,826,000,000 for the last fiscal year.

These figures are exclusive of interest on the public debt and post office receipts and expenditures, which are included in the budget.

The government heads, members of the cabinet in charge of the different departments, will be given an opportunity to prove the necessity for certain increases asked.

Mr. Coolidge indicated he would sanction these increases if they were absolutely needed.

Lord has been working on the budget for months. He was ordered by Mr. Harding to slash the cost of government as much as possible. His work had to be passed on by the president before tomorrow. It will be submitted to the House as soon as Congress convenes in December. The next fiscal year starts June 30 next.

President Coolidge's first cabinet meeting lasted an hour and ten minutes. Secretaries Hoover and Work were the first to leave, referring all questioners to the president.

Coolidge Open Minded
On Merchant Marine

Washington, Aug. 14.—Although President Coolidge is on record for an adequate merchant marine, the uncertainty as to how he will deal with the problem resulting from the creation of the wartime merchant fleet is producing considerable speculation. It is believed the president will approach the problem with an open mind and will obtain all information possible from the shipping board and others.

It is conceded generally that the passing of President Harding alters the relationship of A. D. Lasker, former chairman of the board, to the merchant marine problem. Mr. Lasker worked closely with President Harding for establishment of a strong American merchant marine on a sound footing.

The possibility of Chairman Farley resigning is being discussed.

The chairman is of a type, it is believed, who could work sympathetically with President Coolidge. He accepted the chairmanship at the earnest request of Mr. Harding and Mr. Lasker.

BOY SCOUT NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

The new headquarters of the Crow Wing County Council, Boy Scouts of America, located on the third floor of the Crow Wing county court house is now open for the use of the Boy Scouts of the entire county with E. W. Stimble, Scout Executive, in charge.

A telephone has been installed and the call is 17-J, and Mr. Stimble may be reached at this number at any time during the day, by the Scouts or any one interested in Scouting.

The organization of the council is fast being perfected and by Sept. 1st everything will be arranged for taking care of the present registered troops, getting them started on the regular troop program, and creating an interest in Scouting throughout the county that will lead to the formation of many new troops.

A quantity of supplies has been ordered and will be in early next week, so both Scouts and Scout officials will have plenty of working material on hand at all times.

Arrangements are now being completed for the handling of Scout clothing and other equipment by a local dealer which will eliminate the long wait of sending direct to national headquarters for these things, and will give the Scout a chance to be correctly outfitted in the latest Scout fashion right at home.

The headquarters rooms are being fitted up to give the Scout every assistance in the preparation of his studies, a complete library for all Scout tests, a complete set of 61 Merit Badge books, a splendid new 10 volume library on Nature Study that will cover every subject from A to Z in the wonders of Nature, and many other things that every "100% up and coming" boy likes to know about. A library of approved books for boys to read will be arranged for and whenever a Scout, or a boy 12 years of age who wants to know all about Scouting, has any spare time on his hands he will always be welcome to come up and make use of all of these things from 9 A. M. until 6 P. M. when the office will be open.

A large bulletin board will be placed on the wall for posting various bulletins and information concerning both local and troop activities, and here the Scout will always find something that will interest him—in fact if he does not keep "down to date" by keeping in touch with local activities he is liable to miss something that he did not want to miss.

Every boy 12 years of age is eligible to membership in the boys' greatest organization—The Boy Scouts of America—and the local office is a "service station" for all boys, whether Scouts or not, and any boy that wants to know about Scouting, or any "Dad" that would be interested in learning just what Scouting offers his boy will always find a hearty welcome at the Scout headquarters.

A large supply of Scout handbooks has been received and can be had at headquarters at the regular price of 40 cents per copy, and those in the county outside of Brainerd may have them post paid at this price by addressing "Boy Scouts of America, Brainerd, Minn., and enclosing postal order or stamps of the two cent denomination.

Every registered Scout in Crow Wing county is asked to get in touch with Mr. Stimble, by phone, mail, or in person, as soon as possible, so that a complete list of all registered Scouts may be on file at the offices.

STANDARD OIL CUTS GAS PRICE IN TEN STATES

utive who started the price slash, and ask him to call off the war. Independents in other states declared they fear bankruptcy.

McMaster, in an interview with the United Press, questioned the intentions of the Standard Oil company. He asserted they are taking this action to break small dealers, eliminate competition and promote a boomerang against the consumers.

Meanwhile price decreases promised to spread over every state. Reports that reductions are contemplated in the south persisted. The Atlantic Refining company reduction of one cent a gallon in Pennsylvania was the only eastern reduction.

The average price of Standard Oil gasoline in twelve midwestern states is 16.4 cents a gallon. In different states and communities owing to freight charges this price may be slightly more or less. Some independent dealers met the price of the Standard Oil company, but for the most part they stood pat—setting an average of 17 cents a gallon.

Independent dealers were the first to cut prices in most localities. They claim, however, that the Standard reduction is too low to make a profit. Some independent dealers, however, declared that they could make the price and still make a little money.

GASOLINE FALLS IN BRAINERD TOO

The first to report a fall of price in gasoline in Brainerd was the Northwestern Oil company, and a telephone inquiry elicited the fact that the drop recorded was 6.6 cents. This company has five or more stations in Brainerd handling its gasoline. Low test, it was quoted over the telephone, following the reduction, recorded, would be 17.8 cents and high test 20.8.

DECIDING GERMANY'S FATE

JUST what Germany's fate is to be depends upon the attitude of the allies to the defeated nation, and the nature of that attitude is such that it suggests that whatever Germany's ultimate fate may be, its present condition is to be made as hard as possible and its condition in the immediate future is likely to be one of collapse in which one of two extreme parties will win the ascendancy. Raymond Robins, who was at the head of the American Red Cross in Russia during the war, returned to this country to give out his impressions of the negotiations between the allies and Russia before that country was brought under the control of Lenin and Trotsky. In the articles which appeared in the Metropolitan magazine this prominent American, speaking through William Hard who actually wrote the impressions, said that the allied diplomacy was of such a character as to lead to the unfortunate results in Russia. The mistakes of these governments made possible the advance of the forces of communism.

If this proved true in Russia it seems likely that something of the same kind will be the result of the present policies of the allies with regard to Germany. Indications point to the spread of communism in certain parts of Germany and of the growth of the monarchists in other parts of the country. If the monarchists are given their opportunity through the pressure of the allies, who refuse to attempt to compose the situation by conference with the leaders of the present government of Germany, the world has reason to expect the development of a militarist order in Germany of the character of that which was defeated at such cost in the World war. The leaders of the monarchist party are the leaders who stood for a militarized Germany and the more recent expressions of these have not tended to show that they have repudiated their former ideas. The survival and dominance of the monarchist party in Germany means future wars.

On the other hand, if the communist propaganda carries the conviction of the German people, an entirely different fate awaits Germany and Europe. It is not necessary to attempt to depict what communism as the ascendant power in Germany will mean to Europe. The statements made by the allied governments with reference to communism in Russia may very well be taken as an indication of their attitude to communism and that attitude is not marked by any cordiality. But owing to pressure from the outside—a pressure that continues in spite of the dangers to Germany and therefore to the nations exerting the pressure—the fate of Germany is being shaped as the fate of Russia was determined. The breakdown of the moderate party in Germany will be chargeable against allied policies as much as against Germany's evasion of her obligations.

It is time that the allied governments were ready to admit that the outside pressure will gain nothing for Europe, and that the political purposes it is expected to serve will find their defeat with the breakdown of Germany, while they admit that political conditions in Germany are just as unfavorable to the acceptance of the allied proposals by the German government as the political conditions in the allied nations are favorable to accepting the proposals of the Cuno government. Unless the nations confer, Germany will be one of two things, that is, a monarchy with militarist leaders or a communist state. The policy of the allies is inviting such a change and when the change takes place the allies will not be advantaged. Unless Germany is saved from these threats Europe will have cause to curse the leadership that drove Germany to re-erect the throne or to embrace communism. The policy adopted is gaining nothing in the present and it is making the future more uncertain and unpromising.

RAIL RATES ON COAL REDUCED

INDICATIONS point to the fact that the operators of the bituminous coal mines are making an effort to supply the nation's needs and their announcement that in case of a strike in the anthracite fields they will supply the fuel requirements of the nation has brought about a more kindly public sentiment.

There are several charges that go towards raising the cost of coal to its present height. Wages in the coal fields are high, but it is fair to affirm that wages in the mines are not largely responsible for the high cost of coal, the miner receiving but a fraction of the price paid by the consumer. Then, the character of the product is such that unless it can be placed on the cars directly after leaving the mine further costs of handling are added. In addition to this is the high tariff on the railroads, part of which is chargeable to the increase in the wages of railroad workers during the past few years. Added to this is the toll exacted by the dock companies who handle most of the coal consumed in the Northwest and whether or not this is extortionate is a matter of opinion. To complete the aggregate of charges there must be added the cost of handling the coal by the dealer and margin of profit. Just what this amounts to has not been determined as yet but the United States Coal commission has investigated to some degree and will submit the facts at its disposal. The commission has agreed that it cannot undertake the task of a thorough investigation of the profits of dealers as it would cost two million dollars to complete such an investigation.

The public is confirmed in its belief that there might be reductions all along the line. The thought prevails that the amount that is added to the cost of mining a ton of coal before it reaches the consumer is altogether too high. The commission will have something to report on this matter later and in the meantime a recommendation has been made to the Interstate Commerce commission, which is likely to be accepted, by which the railroad rates on coal used in the Northwest will be considerably reduced. This is satisfactory to the public but the profits of the railroads should not be reduced unless attention is given to the profits of others who handle the coal. The public cannot expect that the price of coal will be reduced so long as the high cost of materials and high wages resulting in a high cost of production and transportation remain as they are. High wages determine high prices or, at any rate, wages and prices rise and fall together, though it is demonstrated that prices rise before wages and wages fall before prices.

If the present standards of wages and living conditions are to obtain in America the public must expect to continue to pay high prices and a prosperous public will do well to pay for the upkeep of a high standard of living and for general prosperity.

MANY FARMERS TO HEAR SAPIRO

Will Gather From Four Counties to Hear Talk on Cooperative Marketing

IN BRAINERD SEPTEMBER 13TH

Minnesota Farm Bureau Arranging Extensive Itinerary in State

Brainerd has been selected as the meeting place for all farmers of Aitkin, Morrison, Crow Wing and Cass counties, to hear Aaron Sapiro, who will speak on co-operative marketing in this city September 13th.

This announcement means much to the city, since it will bring hundreds of farmers and business men from the surrounding territory to hear a speaker who has gained national fame in his chosen field.

Mr. Sapiro, foremost advocate of co-operative marketing in this country, who is to speak on the Farm Bureau day program at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6th, has agreed to follow that address with a series of six up-state meetings September 10 to 15, in the interests of the new potato marketing movement now organizing.

Under the direction of officers of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, arrangements have been completed for these meetings as follows:

Crookston, Sept. 10—C. G. Selvig, district chairman.

Moorehead, Sept. 11—F. M. Brophy, district chairman.

Detroit, Sept. 12—Walter Oby, district chairman.

Brainerd, Sept. 13—E. G. Roth, district chairman.

St. Cloud, Sept. 14—G. P. Wimmer, district chairman.

Princeton, Sept. 15—L. Normandin, district chairman.

At each town, local committees are being organized. Plans call for making them the largest gatherings of farmers in recent years. It is expected that special delegations of potato growers will attend the meetings from all near-by points.

Mr. Sapiro will discuss especially the co-operative potato marketing movement. He is general counsel for the state organization committee and is very anxious to have the Minnesota campaign be an outstanding success.

This will be the first opportunity that Minnesota farmers have had to hear Mr. Sapiro, who is the author of the potato marketing contract discussed the details of the organization.

In a letter to County Agent E. G. Roth, J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation says:

"I am asking A. W. Jacobson and John Merritt of Aitkin to assist in working up a delegation from Aitkin county and John E. Clausen of Little Falls and myself would like to have someone serve as committeemen a Brainerd with you, and some a Motley, Pequot, Pine River, Pillager, Ft. Ripley, Deerwood and other points in yours and surrounding counties.

"We are especially desirous that every Farm Bureau Unit and every farmers club and commercial club in Aitkin, Morrison, Crow Wing and Cass counties make it a project for the Brainerd meeting in co-operating to the fullest extent with you in getting farmers, business men and others to attend.

"We have no hesitancy in assuring you that there will be no regret on the part of those who attend this meeting. It will be an opportunity and a treat to have such a noted authority make these district meetings. You will not have to apologize to anyone you induce or get to attend this big Brainerd meeting."

will be paid for information leading to arrest of parties who destroyed our road signs on Oak St.

CROW WING CO. FARM LOANS

Applications Under State Rural Credits System to be Acted on Soon

D. D. SCHRADER MAKES REPORT

Cass County Ranked First in Sending in Applications, Aitkin Second

While loans are being received by farmers in other localities under the rural credits system, it will be two or three weeks before Crow Wing county applications are approved and loans made, said D. D. Schrader, who is in charge of the appraising of farm property for these loans.

The reason given for this delay is the fact that farmers of this county were slow in getting in their applications, other localities being several weeks ahead of them.

Mr. Schrader states that a number of loans have already been received by farmers around Hackensack and nearby points in Cass county.

Cass county ranks first in sending in the applications for loans, Aitkin county second, and Crow Wing county, third, said the appraiser.

One hundred and forty applications were turned over to Mr. Schrader this week, from Crow Wing county farmers, for loans aggregating more than a half million dollars. He hopes to appraise the property of these applicants within the next two weeks, so that there may be no delay in making the loans.

So many have made application for loans in Mr. Schrader's district that he will be kept very busy at appraising until in the fall.

10TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rau at Home on South Long Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rau, residing at South Long lake, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Sunday, but not according to plans which they had made for the day.

Mrs. Rau had invited several relatives to come out from Brainerd to spend the day and had arranged to have a part of her guests come for Sunday dinner and the balance for an early supper.

But the relatives had made other arrangements, arriving on the scene at noon. Mrs. Rau became rather bewildered as all her plans had been entirely upset, and there is no doubt but what the good lady spent a few very uneasy moments, until she saw that the parties arriving were well laden with large pans of roast chicken and freezers of ice cream.

After dinner had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Rau were presented with a large oak dining room table, George Johnson making the presentation speech. All enjoyed a fine time, and two meals instead of one as originally planned by Mrs. Rau. The day was spent in games and bathing at Shady Point.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bently, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grondin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Englund, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Rau, Marie Hansen, Edward Duquette, Mrs. Fred Rau and Harold Rau. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. J. Rau of Royalton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rau, Jr., of Dickinson, N. D., Mrs. Moy of Minneapolis and Harry Nelson of New York City.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Inwood, On Gull Lake, Honors Memory of Late President Harding

Very impressive memorial exercises for our late President were held at the recreation hall, Inwood, on Friday at three o'clock.

At the request of the Misses Archer, Miss Janet McWilliam of Washington, D. C., presided.

The services opened with the reading of the proclamation of President Coolidge, followed by prayer and the hymn, "Lead Kindly Light." The twenty-third psalm was repeated by all present, after which a most beautiful and eloquent tribute was paid the late President by B. W. Murch of Washington D. C.

He dwelt especially upon the three noted characteristics of Mr. Harding—his patriotism, his courage, and his faith in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God, exemplified by his intense conviction that the ultimate progress toward a higher and better civilization must come through the organized efforts of fraternal societies under the guidance of the Supreme Master of us all.

He touched most feelingly upon the bereavement of Mrs. Harding; and rejoiced that her sorrow was, in a measure, softened by her belief based upon her faith that, "Life is ever Lord of Death, and Love can never lose its own."

The speaker closed with the expression of the hope that the lessons taught by the life of our loved President would arouse a deeper patriotism in the hearts of our people, to the end that the fundamental principles of our constitutional government—so dear to him—would not be engulfed by the seeming wave of radicalism now sweeping over the country.

The service closed with the singing of the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light."

New Park Theatre to Add Innovation on Wednesday and Thursday Programs

The management of the New Park theatre, anxious to institute added attractions for the patrons of this playhouse, will institute a new policy on Wednesdays and Thursdays programs, that of running amateur vaudeville acts whenever they are available.

For Wednesday and Thursday of this week, August 15th and 16th, the Misses Violet Gifford and Caroline Menz have been procured for a piano, singing and dancing act.

Miss Gifford formerly of Brainerd, and now living in St. Paul, has had considerable experience as a dancer and singer, appearing in various St. Paul and Minneapolis theatres on amateur nights, usually carrying away the honors of the evening.

Miss Menz is a pianist of ability, accustomed to playing in public, will accompany Miss Gifford, and entertain with solos.

In addition to the amateur program, the special feature picture which has been awaited for some time, will be shown, Guy Bates Post in "The Masquerader." Mr. Post is a favorite on the legitimate stage and has made an equally enviable reputation on the screen in this picture.

MANY FARMERS TO HEAR SAPIRO

Will Gather From Four Counties to Hear Talk on Cooperative
Marketing

IN BRAINERD SEPTEMBER 13TH

Minnesota Farm Bureau Arranging Extensive Itinerary in State

Brainerd has been selected as the meeting place for all farmers of Aitkin, Morrison, Crow Wing and Cass counties, to hear Aaron Sapiro, who will speak on co-operative marketing in this city September 13th.

This announcement means much to the city, since it will bring hundreds of farmers and business men from the surrounding territory to hear a speaker who has gained national fame in his chosen field.

Mr. Sapiro, foremost advocate of co-operative marketing in this country, who is to speak on the Farm Bureau day program at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6th, has agreed to follow that address with a series of six up-state meetings September 10 to 15, in the interests of the new potato marketing movement now organizing.

Under the direction of officers of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, arrangements have been completed for these meetings as follows:

Crookston, Sept. 10—C. G. Selvig, district chairman.

Moorehead, Sept. 11—F. M. Brophy, district chairman.

Detroit, Sept. 12—Walter Oby, district chairman.

Brainerd, Sept. 13—E. G. Roth, district chairman.

St. Cloud, Sept. 14—G. P. Wimmer, district chairman.

Princeton, Sept. 15—L. Norman, district chairman.

At each town, local committees are being organized. Plans call for making them the largest gatherings of farmers in recent years. It is expected that special delegations of potato growers will attend the meetings from all near-by points.

Mr. Sapiro will discuss especially the co-operative potato marketing movement. He is general counsel for the state organization committee and is very anxious to have the Minnesota campaign be an outstanding success.

This will be the first opportunity that Minnesota farmers have had to hear Mr. Sapiro, who is the author of the potato marketing contract discuss the details of the organization.

In a letter to County Agent E. G. Roth, J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation says:

"I am asking A. W. Jacobson and John Merritt of Aitkin to assist in working up a delegation from Aitkin county and John E. Clausen of Little Falls and myself would like to have someone serve as committeemen a Brainerd with you, and some a Motley, Pequot, Pine River, Pillager, Ft. Ripley, Deerwood and other points in yours and surrounding counties.

"We are especially desirous that every Farm Bureau Unit and every farmers club and commercial club in Aitkin, Morrison, Crow Wing and Cass counties make it a project for the Brainerd meeting in co-operating to the fullest extent with you in getting farmers, business men and others to attend.

"We have no hesitancy in assuring you that there will be no regret on the part of those who attend this meeting. It will be an opportunity and a treat to have such a noted authority make these district meetings. You will not have to apologize to anyone you induce or get to attend this big Brainerd meeting."

CROW WING CO. FARM LOANS

Applications Under State Rural Credits System to be Acted on Soon

D. D. SCHRADER MAKES REPORT

Cass County Ranked First in Sending in Applications, Aitkin
Second

While loans are being received by farmers in other localities under the rural credits system, it will be two or three weeks before Crow Wing county applications are approved and loans made, said D. D. Schrader, who is in charge of the appraising of farm property for these loans.

The reason given for this delay is the fact that farmers of this county were slow in getting in their applications, other localities being several weeks ahead of them.

Mr. Schrader states that a number of loans have already been received by farmers around Hackensack and nearby points in Cass county.

Cass county ranks first in sending in the applications for loans, Aitkin county second, and Crow Wing county, third, said the appraiser.

One hundred and forty applications were turned over to Mr. Schrader this week, from Crow Wing county farmers, for loans aggregating more than a half million dollars. He hopes to appraise the property of these applicants within the next two weeks, so that there may be no delay in making the loans.

So many have made application for loans in Mr. Schrader's district that he will be kept very busy at appraising until in the fall.

10TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Henry
Rau at Home on South
Long Lake

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rau, residing at South Long lake, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Sunday, but not according to plans which they had made for the day.

Mrs. Rau had invited several relatives to come out from Brainerd to spend the day and had arranged to have a part of her guests come for Sunday dinner and the balance for an early supper.

But the relatives had made other arrangements, arriving on the scene at noon. Mrs. Rau became rather bewildered as all her plans had been entirely upset, and there is no doubt but what the good lady spent a few very uneasy moments, until she saw that the parties arriving were well laden with large pans of roast chicken and freezers of ice cream.

After dinner had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Rau were presented with a large oak dining room table, George Johnson making the presentation speech. All enjoyed a fine time, and two meals instead of one as originally planned by Mrs. Rau. The day was spent in games and bathing at Shady Point.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bently, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grondin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Englund, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Rau, Marius Hansen, Edward Duquette, Mrs. Fred Rau and Harold Rau. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. J. Rau of Royaltown, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rau, Jr., of Dickenson, N. D., Mrs. Moy of Minneapolis and Harry Nelson of New York City.

SPORTS

PURSES GETTING BIGGER, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 14.—When Shelby flopped his historic flop on July 4 by making a world's record bust of the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, the point was made by some observers that the day of big money fights had passed.

Predictions have been made to the same effect for several years, and while the day may come when spectators will not pay huge sums for ring-side seats, and when champions cannot get up to a half million for their end, that day is not here yet.

Instead of facing the prospect of a slump in their business, the big promoters of New York are bothered with the problem of getting a place big enough to hold the crowds that want to see any kind of a good ring attraction. Anyone who was on the scene at Shelby during the days leading up to the Dempsey-Gibbons fight knows that it was not the stiff prices that scared away the customers.

There were at least 50,000 fans around the northwest and as far east as Chicago and New York who would have bought tickets to the fight if they had been assured from the start that their tickets would be good and they would see a fight if they made the trip.

The absence of customers at the fight was not a protest against high prices or against commercialism, but it was the result of a lack of confidence in the promoters who were trying to put on the show.

Taking some recent examples in New York, it seems certain that as long as the present high tide of interest in boxing prevails, there are thousands and thousands of boxing enthusiasts who will pay big money to see contests staged by a reputable promoter.

Any promoter who can assure prospective buyers that they will get the seat that their ticket calls for, that they will not be manhandled by officious cops and that they will be in no danger of roughnecks, will get a capacity house when he provides a card.

CHANNEL SWIM MARK BROKEN BY 5 HOURS

Dover, England, Aug. 14.—Enrique Tirabocchi, Argentine swimmer, landed here at 12:33 p. m. Sunday, after swimming the English channel from Cape Griz-Nez, France, in the record time of 16 hours and 33 minutes.

After 18 hours and 10 minutes in the water, Charles Toth of Boston, Mass., abandoned his attempt to swim the channel at 6:45 a. m. He was within 2 1/2 miles of the English coast when he gave up.

With the landing of Tirabocchi, the channel twice has been conquered within a week.

With fortunate turns in the tide, Tirabocchi took nine hours less for his journey from the French side of the waterway to Dover than Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., required last week to traverse the route in the opposite direction. The Argentinian also cut five hours and 12 minutes off the record set in the '70s by the first man to swim the channel, Captain Mathew Webb, an Englishman, who later lost his life at Niagara Falls.

HIBBING BOXING CARD CANCELED

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 14.—Because of the declared opposition of the Minnesota State Boxing commission, the boxing bouts which it was proposed to hold here some night during the state convention of the Elks have been abandoned. As late as Saturday the committee in charge of entertainment features were going ahead with the arrangements to present a high class card, but on receipt of a telegram from officials of the state commission that the bouts would be prevented, it was decided to drop them.

Delegates' credential cards have been received for Brainerd Lodge three delegates, Clyde E. Parker, Vic Roderick and Walter F. Kunitz and should be obtained by them from Secretary Cummins.

Every Brainerd Lodge Elks should register at the Elks club in Hibbing and get the badge which Hibbing lodge gives out to visiting Elks.

2 NEW YORK TEAMS IN WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Baseball's greatest home run hitter, Babe Ruth, leads the American league in batting by a narrow squeak, in spite of his team's defeat by the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 2.

Incidentally, despite the defeat, the Yankees rounded out the week with such a lead in the American league averages that little less than a miracle could prevent their pennant victory, the experts conceded.

Although the New York Giants also lost, experts generally agree that their National league rivals have small chance to tear them from the top. So another world series combat looks pretty safe for New York this fall.

Ties Cy Williams

Ruth, by hammering out a homer, a double and a single, jacked up his batting average to .39394. Inasmuch as Harry Heilmann, the Detroit slugger, was out of the game with a strained tendon, Ruth took the league batting lead away from him. Heilmann's average is .39377. Ruth's home run was his 29th of the season, putting him even with Cy Williams of the Phillies.

The New York Nationals lost to St. Louis on the Cardinal field 5 to 2. It was the closing game of their western trip. The New Yorkers dropped three out of five to the Cardinals.

Guy Bates Post
"The Masquerader"

Guy Bates Post Makes "The Masquerader" a Masterpiece on Screen. We have always wondered why Guy Bates Post, one of the most distinguished actors on the American stage, resisted the lure of the films. On Wednesday and Thursday we will see his first picture, a screen version of "The Masquerader," prepared by Richard Walton Tully, at the New Park theatre, and we add an expression of regret to our former wonderment because Post had not come to motion pictures sooner. For the newest star in the film firmament is one of its most brilliant constellation.

The most outstanding feature of the entire production from the brilliant work of the star down through the performance of the lowliest bit by any of the "extras" is the fact that it carries the conviction of the highest type of drama. Every member of the cast of "The Masquerader" is an ACTOR—the capitals are used advisedly. Other screen producers and actors would do well to see this picture and study it. Only a performance such as Post's deserves stardom in such an unusual production.

Agnes Ayres in "Borderland"

A wistful spirit, a super-modern wife, a girl of 1850, a group of clever "kiddies" and a trained dog are delightfully mixed together in "Borderland," Agnes Ayres' Paramount picture, which is showing at the Lyceum tonight only.

The supernatural is most effectively used for dramatic effect. Dora dinals, the only series they lost on the latest invasion.

The only other exciting events in the National league occurred in Brooklyn, where the Dodgers trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates in a pair of games, 11 to 2 and 6 to 0.

Where to Find Diamond Backs.

Carlyle Graham Raht in connection with his story "The Diamond-Back" in Everybody's Magazine gives an interesting account of his experiences.

In thirty-odd years he has covered much of the old and new West. He's been a pearl-diver; he has played the piano in dance halls, has gone in for historical research, mining and cow-punching. His wife calls him a domesticated nomad.

The genuine diamond-back he says, (in answer to a query about the rattlesnake that appears in his story), is found mostly in Arkansas and eastern Texas. The diamonds of the western rattler are not so clearly defined, nor is that reptile so large. Colloquially, the term "diamond-back" is also applied to the latter. However, the territory in which these two distinct species are found seems to lap over, as I have seen the larger diamond-back as far down as northeastern Mexico and as far west as the Davis mountains, where I lay my story.

PURSES GETTING BIGGER, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 14.—When Shelby flopped its historic flop on July 4 by making a world's record bust of the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, the point was made by some observers that the day of big money fights had passed.

Predictions have been made to the same effect for several years, and while the day may come when spectators will not pay huge sums for ring-side seats, and when champions cannot get up to a half million for their end, that day is not here yet.

Instead of facing the prospect of a slump in their business, the big promoters of New York are bothered with the problem of getting a place big enough to hold the crowds that want to see any kind of a good ring attraction.

Anyone who was on the scene at Shelby during the days leading up to the Dempsey-Gibbons fight knows that it was not the stiff prices that scared away the customers.

There were at least 50,000 fans around the northwest and as far east as Chicago and New York who would have bought tickets to the fight if they had been assured from the start that their tickets would be good and they would see a fight if they made the trip.

The absence of customers at the fight was not a protest against high prices or against commercialism, but it was the result of a lack of confidence in the promoters who were trying to put on the show.

Taking some recent examples in New York, it seems certain that as long as the present high tide of interest in boxing prevails, there are thousands and thousands of boxing enthusiasts who will pay big money to see contests staged by a reputable promoter.

Any promoter who can assure prospective buyers that they will get the seat that their ticket calls for, that they will not be manhandled by officious cops and that they will be in no danger of roughnecks, will get a capacity house when he provides a card.

CHANNEL SWIM MARK BROKEN BY 5 HOURS

Dover, England, Aug. 14.—Enrique Tirabocchi, Argentine swimmer, landed here at 12:33 p. m. Sunday, after swimming the English channel from Cape Griz-Nez, France, in the record time of 16 hours and 33 minutes.

After 18 hours and 10 minutes in the water, Charles Toth of Boston, Mass., abandoned his attempt to swim the channel at 6:45 a. m. He was within 2½ miles of the English coast when he gave up.

With the landing of Tirabocchi, the channel twice has been conquered within a week.

With fortunate turns in the tide, Tirabocchi took nine hours less for his journey from the French side of the waterway to Dover than Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., required last week to traverse the route in the opposite direction. The Argentinian also cut five hours and 12 minutes off the record set in the '70s by the first man to swim the channel, Captain Mathew Webb, an Englishman, who later lost his life at Niagara Falls.

HIBBING BOXING CARD CANCELED

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 14.—Because of the declared opposition of the Minnesota State Boxing commission, the boxing bouts which it was proposed to hold here some night during the state convention of the Elks have been abandoned. As late as Saturday the committee in charge of entertainment features were going ahead with the arrangements to present a high class card, but on receipt of a telegram from officials of the state commission that the bouts would be prevented, it possible, it was decided to drop them.

Delegates' credential cards have been received for Brainerd Lodge three delegates, Clyde E. Parker, Vic Roderick and Walter F. Kunitz, and should be obtained by them from Secretary Cummins.

Every Brainerd Lodge Elk should register at the Elks club in Hibbing and get the badge which Hibbing lodge gives out to visiting Elks.

Anoka Nine Wins

Hastings, Aug. 14.—Anoka beat the Hastings American Legion baseball team here yesterday, 7 to 3, in a game that was tied until the ninth inning.

2 NEW YORK TEAMS IN WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Baseball's greatest home run hitter, Babe Ruth, leads the American league in batting by a narrow squeak, in spite of his team's defeat by the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 2.

Incidentally, despite the defeat, the Yankees rounded out the week with such a lead in the American league averages that little less than a miracle could prevent their pennant victory, the experts conceded.

Although the New York Giants also lost, experts generally agree that their National league rivals have small chance to tear them from the top. So another world series combat looks pretty safe for New York this fall.

Ties Cy Williams

Ruth, by hammering out a homer, a double and a single, jacked up his batting average to .39394. Inasmuch as Harry Heilmann, the Detroit slugger, was out of the game with a strained tendon, Ruth took the league batting lead away from him. Heilmann's average is .39377.

Ruth's home run was his 29th of the season, putting him even with Cy Williams of the Phillies.

The New York Nationals lost to St. Louis on the Cardinal field 5 to 2.

It was the closing game of their western trip. The New Yorkers dropped three out of five to the Cardinals, the only series they lost on the latest invasion.

The only other exciting events in the National league occurred in Brooklyn, where the Dodgers trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates in a pair of games, 11 to 2 and 6 to 0.

Where to Find Diamond Backs.

Carlisle Graham Raht in connection with his story "The Diamond-Back" in Everybody's Magazine gives an interesting account of his experiences. "The Masquerader"

Guy Bates Post Makes "The Masquerader" a Masterpiece on Screen

We have always wondered why Guy Bates Post, one of the most distinguished actors on the American stage, resisted the lure of the films. On Wednesday and Thursday we will see his first picture, a screen version of "The Masquerader," prepared by Richard Walton Tully, at the New Park theatre, and we add an expression of regret to our former wonderment because Post had not come to motion pictures sooner. For the newest star in the film firmament is one of its most brilliant constellations.

The most outstanding feature of the entire production from the brilliant work of the star down through the performance of the lowliest bit by any of the "extras" is the fact that it carries the conviction of the highest type of drama. Every member of the cast of "The Masquerader" is an ACTOR—the capitals are used advisedly. Other screen producers and actors would do well to see this picture and study it. Only a performance such as Post's deserves stardom, in such an unusual production.

Agnes Ayres in "Borderland"

A wistful spirit, a super-modern wife, a girl of 1850, a group of clever "kiddies" and a trained dog are delightfully mixed together in "Borderland," Agnes Ayres' Paramount picture, which is showing at the Lyceum tonight only.

The supernatural is most effectively used for dramatic effect. Dora

Becket, a wife of 1850, returns to warn jazzy Edith Wayne against the consequences of a mistake from which she had suffered. A triple role gives Miss Ayres a chance for some finely drawn characterizations. Lots of human interest is added to the offering by the presence of such popular child players as Frankie Lee and Mary Jane Irving. Milton Sills has the male lead.
